Helping to Develop Future Education.

At the beginning of last year, we were approached by Durham University and the Education Endowment Foundation (EEF) to take part in project to help develop the teaching and learning of Literacy, called the Literacy Octopus Project. For this we were sent resources and ideas to use and then to report back on the impact it had on learning. This feedback was then used by the NfER (National Foundation for Educational Research) to develop Literacy across the country and how pupils are assessed nationally. We are pleased to announce that we have been accredited with the title of Education Endowment Foundation Research Partner School in recognition for helping with the development of education across the country.
